

INSIGHTS from the SEDRA

Insights from the Sedra is a project of the Scholar's Kollel of Great Neck. It aims to provide several questions and answers about the Sedra, culled from various commentaries, including the following: Baal Haturim, Darash Moshe, Vedebartha Bam by Rabbi Moshe Bogomilsky, Torah Treasures by Dov Furer, Wellsprings of Torah by Alexander Friedman, and Kol Dodi by Rabbi Dovid Feinstein, Great Torah Lights by Rabbi Yitzchak Meir Goodman, Something To Say by Dov Wasserman, The Vilna Gaon, Growth Through Torah by Zelig Pliskin and The Call of the Torah.

אלה הם מועדי ששת ימים תעשה מלאכה וביום השביעי שבת שבתון מקרא קדש

"These are My Festivals. Six days you shall work on the seventh day it shall be Shabbat, a time that is declared sanctified..." (23:2-3)

Why does the verse begin by referring to the festivals and then immediately begin to speak about Shabbat, a day that is not a festival? The Vilna Gaon offers a homiletical explanation. The six days of work referred to in the verse alludes to the six festival days that Torah mandates – the first and last days of Pesach, the day of Shavuot, the day of Rosh Hashana, the first day of Sukkot, and Shmini Atzeret – when one is permitted to do some forms of work needed for cooking. Although there is an additional festival day – Yom Kippur – cooking is not permitted then and thus it is alluded to by the reference in this verse to Shabbat. According to his interpretation, the verse should be read in the following manner. On six of the festival days, one may do work connected with cooking, but the seventh festival day, Yom Kippur, is like Shabbat, when no work may be performed.

(Parsha Anthology)

שבע שבתות תמימות תהיינה

"Seven weeks, they shall be complete..." (23:15)

When are the weeks complete? When Klal Yisrael does the will of Hashem (Vayikra Rabbah 28:3). We count from Pesach until Shavuot to demonstrate that the two are connected. Pesach is the geulat haguf, our physical redemption, and Shavuot is the geulat hanefesh, our spiritual redemption. One is not completely free until he has a geulat hanefesh; until then, one is still a slave to his yetzer hara. By fulfilling the will of the Ribono Shel Olam during this period of sefira, one will merit "temimot tih'yena" – the fusion of what Pesach and Shavuot represent, to achieve a complete redemption.

(Maharam Shick)

לעני ולגר תעזב אתם

"For the poor and the proselyte shall you leave them." (23:22)

This verse comes just before the section on the Days of Awe, the days of judgment and mercy, to hint to us that when a person is merciful to others, Heaven is merciful to him. Through charity and kindness, it is possible to elicit a favorable verdict on the Days of Judgment.

(Vedebartha Bam)

“On the tenth day...” (23:27)

Why was the day of Atonement set for this particular date? Our Sages in the Midrash answer that the reason is to be found in the festival of Rosh Hashana which precedes it. According to R' Eliezer, Rosh Hashana is the anniversary, the day on which Adam was created, the world having been created on the 25th of Elul. The natural day for atonement should have fallen on Rosh Hashana because on this day man returns to his origins.

The circumstance which favors man on the anniversary of his coming into the world is separated from the Day of Atonement by a period of ten days, the time needed to acquire the strength to repent and to translate the potential remorse into action. Man, then finds his Day of Atonement, the day on which Moshe, long ago, returned with the second Tablets of the law and proclaimed Divine forgiveness for the sin of the Golden Calf. (Parsha Anthology)

ולא תחללו את שם קדשי ונקדשתי בתוך בני ישראל

“And you shall not desecrate My name and I shall be sanctified among the children of Israel...”
(22:32)

Ramban points out that the most serious crime that man can commit is to desecrate G-d's name. The only way that he can atone for this is by sanctifying G-d's name. This is the reason why the Torah links the two.

Rav Chaim Volozhin explains why desecrating G-d's name is referred to as a chilul Hashem. The Hebrew word chilul comes from the root חלל – a void. When man acts in a manner that causes G-d's name to be desecrated, his actions are tantamount to a declaration that there is a void in the world where G-d does not exist, as it were. This very declaration can easily degenerate and lead man to conclude that he no longer observes any of the mitzvot. Our Sages (Chagigah 16a) saw this clearly and taught: One who transgresses in secret – i.e., allows himself to believe that G-d is not watching – is considered to have ushered the Shechinah from this world. (Torah Anthology)

SHABBAT SHALOM!

This week's Divrei Torah are sponsored by the Goldberg & Zuckerman families in memory of our father, Philip Zuckerman, Pesach Yehudah ben Yitzchak Isaac z"l. For future sponsorship opportunities or to receive this publication, please call Steve Zuckerman at 516 652 5266 or email zkster@aol.com or Rabbi Lichter at ilichter@gns.org. Sponsorships in memory of or in honor of someone are $50.00 per issue.